

Two doors. Different latches.

Texas has two ways to put a school in front of a child on public money. One ends at a board that votes. The other ends at a published checklist.

One route ends in a room.

"the Commissioner of Education is responsible for recommending new open-enrollment charters"

That room keeps a calendar.

Open-Enrollment Charter School Generation 32 Application Updates

SBOE - NO ACTION

SBOE is the State Board of Education and the agenda's own header spells it out. The line is an update on an application cycle and it names no applicant.

The other route has four latches.

Be accredited

Be a proven operator

Administer a nationally norm-referenced assessment.

Be located in Texas or, for a virtual school, have an office in Texas.

This door never closes.

$10,474

PER CHILD, THE 2026-27 SCHOOL YEAR

"Applications are accepted on a rolling basis."

Texas Education Freedom Accounts opened its application period for private schools on December 9th, 2025.

The list stops at four.

None of the four is about the teaching.

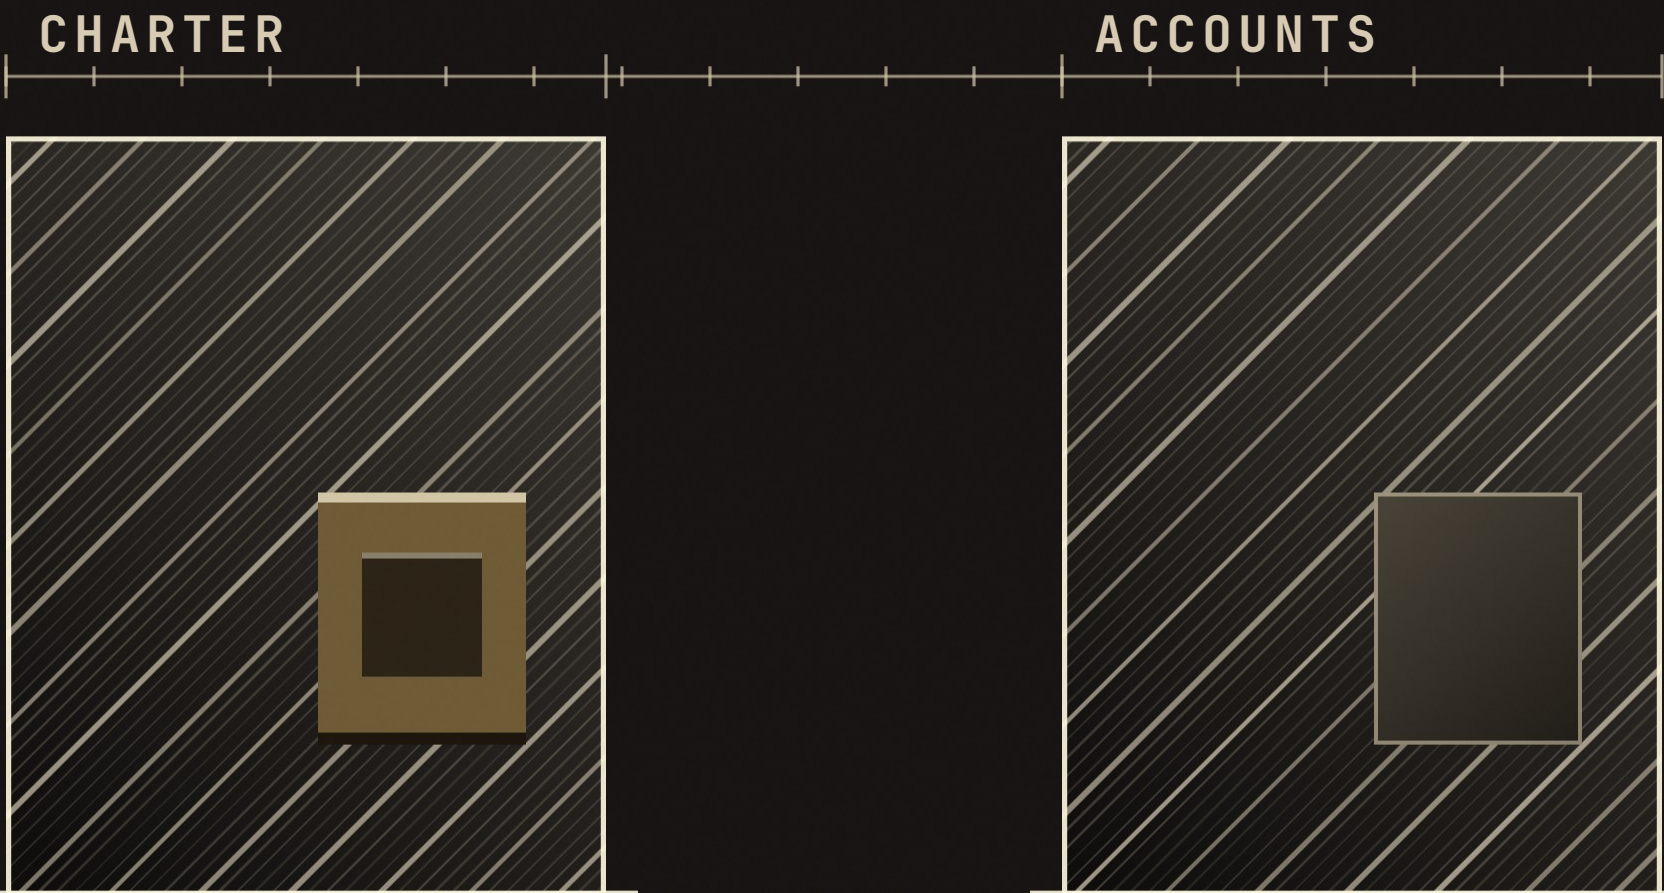

Alpha School says it plainly.

"Our AI tutor gives students 1:1 personalized education"

"Adults, whether teachers or parents, become 'Guides,'"

One said no. One said yes.

The board rejected Alpha’s charter. ProPublica and The Texas Tribune found the program accepted most of its campuses.

"Our role is to make sure that a school meets the requirements in the law."

Travis Pillow, a spokesperson for the voucher program

Ask which door.

Austin
Brownsville
Highland Park
Plano
Fort Worth
Carrollton
Houston
The Woodlands
Southlake
Lake Travis

partial list of towns.
ProPublica and The Texas
Tribune count "more than 30
virtual and in-person campuses"

Four requirements are published. Ask a school which one covers the teaching.

educationfreedom.texas.gov/schools