

Afternoon experiences are screen free

The district says this of its afternoon experiences. The first four hours of the day follow its standard curriculum.

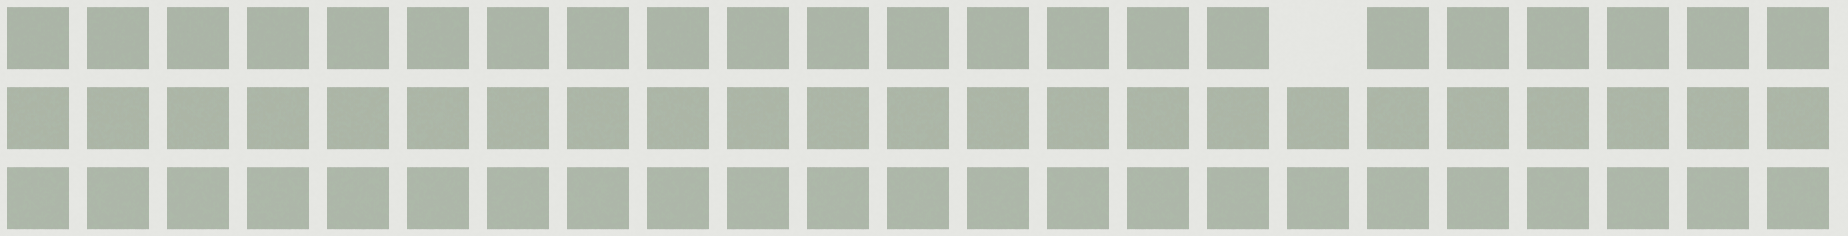

Two schools, converting

C. Martinez to pre-K-8

Gregg to pre-K-8

Both convert for the 2026 to 2027 school year.

"Schools must shift focus from 'what to know' to 'how to think,'"

"What is our competitive advantage in an AI-enabled world?"

Both, Superintendent Mike Miles

Houston ISD cites a McKinsey and Company projection that 57% of jobs could be automated by 2030.

BEFORE ANYTHING IS DIFFERENT

The first four hours are ordinary

Instruction 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.
Optional programming to 6:00 p.m.

- Reading
- Writing
- Math
- Science
- Art of Thinking

 as the district states it as the district calls it optional

LENGTHS ONLY

Three blocks, no stated order

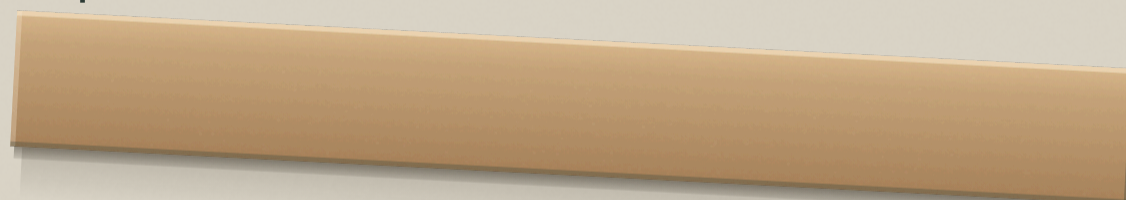

one hour

AI literacy and design thinking

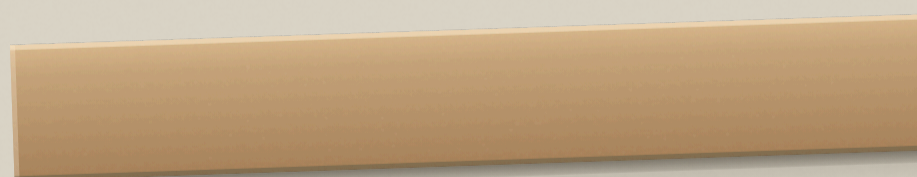

110 minutes

experiences

90 minutes

workshop

The schedule gives each block a length. It never says which block follows the morning.

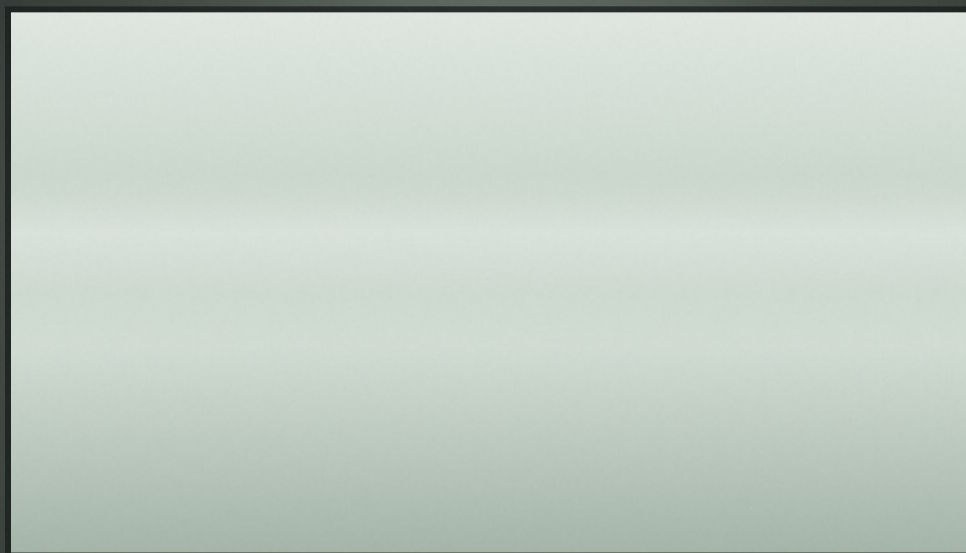

WHY THE DISTRICT SAYS IT DOES THIS

Enrichment that can cost thousands outside school

"Along with being screen-free, afternoon experiences provide enrichment opportunities that can cost thousands of dollars outside of school."

WHERE A SCREEN ACTUALLY APPEARS

One platform, no vendor named

An accelerated AI-driven platform for reading and math

Optional, for students in the top percentile

vendor

07 / 09

Pairings, never a total

as the campus page lists them

The campus page lists these pairings. It states no total.

The Texan reported on May 7th, 2026 that nine campuses would move to Future 2.

THE RULE THAT WOULD GOVERN IT

Second reading, no recorded action

Board policy CQD(LOCAL), technology resources and artificial intelligence, Houston ISD School Board introduced June 15th, 2026

second reading
August 13th, 2026

no recorded action

agenda status	Agenda Ready enactment date action text
minutes	Draft

Checked five days after the meeting. The minutes were still marked Draft.